SACRIFICED 20,000 IN ONE ENGAGEMENT

Many Japanese Killed in Attacking Port Arthur.

Russian General Uses Picturesque
Language When Asked to Surrender to the Japanese.

RUSSIAN VESSEL SUNK BY MINE.

Chefoo, August 19.—A battle of huge proportions raged around Port Arthur August 14 and 15, and was renewed August 17. The Japanese,
it is reported, sacrificed 20,000 men,
but gained important advantages in the matter of position.

The above news was brought here
on junks.

The main force of the attack was directed against the left wing, and resulted in the capture of Pigeon Bay positions and some of the forts at Liao Tieshan. At Pailou Chang the Japanese heavily mounted guns which did excellent service in aiding the storming of the right wing, where the Japanese are said to have captured
two forts of minor value, mounting eight four-inch guns, two siege guns
and six quick-firing guns.

On the night of the 15th the battle
lulled somewhat, when the Japanese sent the terms of surrender to Lieutenant General Stossel. The terms provided that the garrison should march out with the honors of war and join General Kurapatkin; that all civilians be brought to a place designated by the Japanese admiral; that the Russian warships in the harbor,
numbering seven, namely, the battleships Retvizan, Sevastopol, Po-bieda, Peresviet, Poltava, the armored cruiser Bayan and the protected
cruiser Pallada and twelve or more torpedo boat destroyers and four gun-boats, to be surrendered to the Japanese.

Lieutenant General Stossel is alleged to have received the terms with a burst of wonderful profanity, his habitual taciturnity deserting him.
He strode the floor until he became calmer, and then remarked that if the Japanese position was a joke it was in bad taste.

NON COMBATANTS CAN'T LEAVE
London, August 19.—A dispatch to the Central News from Tokio says it has been announced that the Japanese commander in front of Port Arthur has been unable to accede to a Russian request for grace in order to permit the removal of non-combatants from that place. Nothing has been received from any other source confirming the foregoing.

BATTLE EXPECTED.

Mukden, Aug. 19.—A big battle in the neighborhood of Liao Yang is imminent. The Japanese forces have advanced within twenty miles of Liao Yang and skirmishes between their outposts and those of the Russian army
is constant.

MYSTERIOUS VISIT FROM JAPS.

Chefoo, Aug. 19.—Two Japanese destroyers entered the harbor here this morning and remained a half hour,
then sailed away again. Five more destroyers are reported sailing around outside the harbor. The object of the Japanese in so mysteriously visiting
this place cannot even be conjectured.

JAPS DRAWING CLOSER.

Chefoo, Aug. 19.—According to information received here today the Japanese at Port Arthur have renewed fighting and have penetrated
the abandoned Chinese arsenal a mile and a quarter east of town. The dock yards and buildings surrounding them are said to be severely damaged by Japanese shells. Explosions are frequently heard in the town. The Japanese are reported to have captured the inner forts, numbers three and four.

SEIZED UNKNOWN STEAMER.

Washington, Aug. 19.—Consul-General
Fowler, of Chefoo, cabled the state department today that two Japanese torpedo boat destroyers had entered the harbor, while several Japanese cruisers remained outside. On their return they

A WILD MARKET TODAY.

Bar Harbor, Maine, Aug. 19.—
Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, during an interview on the progress of the war declared: "We will bring it to an end on our own terms.
It may be two years, or maybe three years, but we will bring it to an end
on our own terms."

SENATOR HOAR BETTER.

Worcester, Mass., Aug. 19.—Senator Hoar passed a comfortable night
and is apparently no weaker today.
His physicians say, however, that he cannot recover.

BIG FOREST FIRES.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 19.—Forest fires are causing tremendous losses in all parts of the province. The flames are beyond human control and nothing short of a heavy rain fall can stop them.

A WILD MARKET.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—There was a wild market in wheat today on further rains in northwest and additional damage to crops in that country. The fact that cables were better was a bull help. Corn was lower on the breaking of the drought in the corn belt. Cattle are steady.

is reported United States Minister

STRANGLER KNAPP EXPIATES CRIMES

Was Electrocutted in the Prison
at Columbus, O., Today.

The Murder of His Last Wife, the Crime For Which He Paid the Extreme Penalty.

CONFESSES TO FIVE MURDERS.

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 19.—Alfred A.
Knapp, convicted of the murder of his wife, Hannah Goddard Knapp, and who confessed to five murders, all his victims
being women, was electrocuted in the annex at the Ohio Penitentiary a few minutes after midnight. Knapp, who weakened when he found his last hope
for life had gone, and expressed a fear that he would have to be carried to the death chair, regained his nerve and met
his fate with little show of fear or emotion. The electrocution was performed without a hitch, the first shock being applied at 12:02, the second a minute later
and, at 12:09, he was pronounced dead.

Knapp was electrocuted for the murder
of his third wife, Hannah Goddard Knapp. On December 21, 1902, the woman was last seen alive at her home in Hamilton, Ohio, later it developed that Knapp had strangled her on the night of December 22, placing her body in a box, carted it to the Miami river, and threw it in.

The murders to which he confessed
follow:
Emma Lippelman, killed in a lumber yard at Cincinnati, June 21, 1894.

Mary Eckert, killed on Walnut street,
Cincinnati, August 1, 1894.

Jennie Conners Knapp, his second wife, killed on Liberty street, Cincinnati, August 17, 1894.

Ida Gebhart, a child, killed at Indianapolis, Ind., in July, 1896.

Hannah Goddard Knapp, his third wife, killed at Hamilton, Ohio, December 22, 1902. All of these were strangled to death.

On March 2, 1903, the nude body of Hannah Goddard Knapp was found near
New Albany, Ind., below the Ohio river falls. Knapp's trial followed, and although a vigorous effort was made to save him, he was convicted, and sentenced to be electrocuted. All the means known to the law were then employed to save him from death, but without avail. The general claim was made that the man was insane.

MAY SOON END

UNION MEN SAID TO HAVE RE-TURNED TO PACKING PLANTS.

Chicago, August 19.—Strong influences in favor of extending the sympathetic strike to teamsters is being exercised in the council of labor leaders. The chances are against a spread of the strike, and no talk can now be heard of peace negotiations.

NEARING AN END.

Omaha, August 19.—Although the leaders deny the story, there are good grounds for believing that several union men have deserted and returned to work in the packing houses. It is confidently predicted the strike will soon end.

CHIEF OF RATHBONE SISTERS.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 19.—Mrs.
Lidia A. Monroe, of Riverview, was won over Mrs. Belle Quinlan, the present officer and Mrs. Emma Young,

of Zanesville, Ohio.

THE GOVERNMENT TO LOSE PARAGUAY

General Ferrera Revolutionary Leader, Will be President.

Rebellion Reported In South Africa—
England and Venezuela In Another Quarrel.

TURKEY FORWARDS FORMAL RATE

Buenos Ayres, Aug. 19.—Three insurgent vessels bombarded Asuncion,
capital of Paraguay, for forty minutes.
The extent of the damage is unknown.
The government artillery replied to the insurgents, and one gun burst
killing several government soldiers.
The ministers of Argentina, Brazil, Italy and France boarded one of the insurgent vessels and held a long and secret conference, at the end of which a truce of twenty-four hours was declared in order to give the women and children an opportunity to leave
the capital before further bombardment.

Absolute reserve is maintained in regard to the conference, but it is said that the ministers protested to the insurgent leaders against the bombardment.

Government scouts returning to Asuncion were mistaken for insurgents and fired upon. Twenty of them were wounded.

The government has a force of 5000 soldiers, 500 of whom are armed with Remington rifles.

Panic prevails at Asuncion.

Women are preparing to attend
those who may be wounded.

It is impossible to obtain accurate
details of the bombardment, as communication is so completely cut off.

REBELLION IN AFRICA.

Brussels, Aug. 19.—It is reported that rebellion has broken out in the Mongalla river district of the Congo
Free State and that the troops have been sent there.

VENEZUELAN TROUBLE.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The administration is alarmed over the sensational turn of affairs in Venezuela.
The reports that British subjects employed by the New York and Bermuda asphalt company were forced by government troops to remain at work
under President Castro's receiver,
and that some of them were badly
treated, coupled with the dispatch
of the British cruiser Tribune to La Guayra, have changed the whole situation and given it a more nervous
phase.

It is considered certain that the commander of the Tribune will take steps to secure full satisfaction. If Castro does not take up the question
quickly and properly, it is thought that the British captain may land marines and march them to the asphalt lakes to arrest and punish the offenders. There would be no disposition in the state department to resent
such action, but it would open up possibilities which might force the administration to assume a firm and decided stand toward Venezuela, therefore the developments of the next few days will be intently watched.

TURKEY'S FORMAL NOTE.

Constantinople, Aug. 19.—The porte has addressed a formal note to the American legation, confirming its undertaking to accord equal treatment to American schools and kindred institutions as that granted to the most favored nations, "subject to the accomplishment of the usual departmental formalities." In spite of the seeming reservation, it is not believed that the porte will raise further difficulties in executing the agreement or run the risk of creating a fresh crisis.

Guthrie, O. T., August 19.—F. F.

for congress, says he will kiss every baby in the Territory to win the election.

A LIGHTNING BOLT KILLS MUSICIAN

Tragic Feature of the Camp
Near Jackson, Tenn.

Prof. Schwalbe Killed and a Number Rendered Unconscious—Lightning Followed Wire.

NO OTHER INJURIES ARE FATAL.

Jackson, Tenn., Aug. 19.—A shadow
fell upon the general joy at Harvey Hannah Camp yesterday afternoon over Gov. Frazier's visit. An electric storm came up and a bolt descending struck
one of the tents occupied by the band.
Prof. Wm. M. Schwalbe, of Jackson, was instantly killed and his wife was rendered unconscious for some hours, finally recovering. The lightning appears to have followed the electric wires with which the tents are lighted and shocked different persons in about a dozen tents. Those most affected were Misses Lillie Pickett, of Memphis, slightly shocked; Miss Mamie Baugh, of Franklin, in the officers' tent, rendered unconscious for a few moments; Capt. E. L.
Beare, of Humboldt, unconscious several moments; Lieut. Wells, of Jackson, severely shocked; Capt. Parham, of Memphis, unconscious. Others throughout the camp received slight shocks. The cause of the different shocks is believed to have been the inferior insulation of the electric-light wire. Prof. Schwalbe was a well-known musician who has lived here some time. His son filling a vacancy in the Industrial School Band of Nashville and his parents were visiting him.

MUCH TOBACCO IS BURNED AT MURRAY

The G. W. Downs Plant Destroyed There Last Night.

Had the Finest Machinery Possible to Buy—Mr. Downs Was In Paducah
at the Time.

LOSS WILL BE QUITE HEAVY.

The George W. Downs Rehandling
Plant, at Murray, Ky., one of the largest tobacco concerns in this end of the state, burned to the ground last night between 11 and 12 o'clock, entailing a loss of many thousands of dollars, the exact loss being impossible to estimate until several days. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed to have been caused by a cigarette.

The owner of the plant, Mr. Downs,
was in Paducah asleep and did not know
of the fire until this morning when he was awakened in his room at the New Richmond hotel by Col. Bud Dale, and given the first news he had of it.

Mr. Downs hastily donned his clothes and caught the morning train to Murray.
He stated that he carried not over $4,000
insurance and had between 70,000 and 100,000 pounds of fine tobacco in his house, and also fine machinery. The building he sold about one year ago and the loss of this will not fall on his shoulders.

"The Downs house was one of the finest plants I have ever been in," Col.
Dale declared this morning. "It was only three weeks ago that I went to Murray and in person with Mr. Downs, who is an old friend of mine, inspected
the entire plant. The machinery was the finest procurable and was practically new. The loss will amount to many thousand dollars."

FARMER COMMITS SUICIDE.

Owingsville, Ky., August 19.—The dead body of Price Raborn, a 35-year-old farmer, was found on the floor at his home near here. A coroner's jury decided that he came to his death by an overdose of morphine, taken with suicidal intent. Domestic troubles are believed to have weighed upon his mind so that he became insane. He had been dead several hours, when found.

DEATH IN CARLISLE.

Bardwell, Ky., August 19.—Mrs.
Nona Miller died at her home in Bardwell from a complication of diseases. Mrs. Miller was 26 years of age and a daughter of John Turk.

MORGANS' MEN ELECT.

Carlisle, Ky., August 19.—At the Morgan's Men reunion all the old officers were re-elected, and H. M.
Taylor, of Carlisle, was chosen to fill the position of secretary, made vacant
by the death of Captain W. T. Havens, who was drowned at Frankfort last spring. Green R. Keller was selected to fill a vacancy on the executive committee.

The feature of yesterday's session
was an interesting historical sketch
by Colonel W. C. P. Breckinridge, of the Ninth regiment, of which he

INTERESTING STATE HAPPENINGS

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 19.—State
Auditor Hager has addressed a letter to the attorney general asking his opinion of the constitutionality of an act of the last general assembly making an appropriation annually of $15,000,
to the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Kentucky to liquidate
the present indebtedness of the college and to provide additional income for meeting the annual expenditures. The auditor doubts the legality of the act, as did Governor Beckham last winter when he suffered it to become a law without his approval, because of the earnest solicitation of the officers of the college, who thought the matter
constitutionality should be left to the courts.

This is the third annual appropriation of $15,000 which Auditor Hager has turned down because he doubted their constitutionality, the other two cases being that of the Kentucky Children's Home Society and the annual appropriation for the Kentucky Breeders' Association for a state fair.

BROTHER FORMERLY LIVED
HERE.

Eddyville, Ky., Aug. 19.—J. L.
James, one of the best known men in Lyon county, died at his home in Eddyville, from the infirmities of old age.

The deceased was 78 years old.
About three weeks ago his wife died,
and sorrow is supposed to have rushed his life to an end. His children are all grown. Bartley Jones, of Evansville, formerly of Paducah, was a brother. The deceased was the father of Attorney Ed James, of Eddyville.
Mr. James was a well known traveling salesman, and for many years
made regular trips through this country as salesman for Ragon Bros.,

FIGHT WITH MOONSHINER.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 19.—The reports of the fight between the posse of Deputy Internal Revenue Collector J.
L. McCoy, of this city, and a band of moonshiners on the Magoffin and Breathitt county line Tuesday are much exaggerated, according to Mr.
McCoy, who returned here today.
Mr. McCoy and his men, Sheriff Cope, of Breathitt county and Deputy Sheriff Henry Freeman of Jackson
were cutting up a large still, which they had located, and were fired on by the moonshiners, who had taken refuge in a thick woods nearby. Two shots from a shot gun struck Deputy McCoy, inflicting wounds in his scalp
and back. He was not seriously hurt.
Several shots were fired at the moon-
shiners, but none of them were struck.

distance in some localities. The output of the Knox county field for the past two weeks approximates 2,300 barrels.

sharp practice in its dealings with the United States in the matter of the latter's demands for proper treatment
of the American schools in Turkey.

Minister Leischman, the paper
says, thanked the Porte for a satisfactory settlement of differences and received a reply that he had misunderstood the Turkish note, which did not concede the American demands.

The paper adds: "The withdrawal of the American warship is thus

tional methods."

PADDING PLAYERS' RECORDS.
Presumably for the purpose of making their players sell better with the big leagues the Cairo Bulletin keeps on garbling reports of ball games and padding the records of Cairo players.

The day Luke Duffy of Vincennes gave pitcher Holycross of Cairo such a hard setback the Bulletin said Duffy struck out eight to Holycross' seven
when it knows that Holly struck out but three. The Bulletin also puts the blame for Holly losing the game on
"poor support at critical periods,"
when it knows the facts in the case
are Duffy outpitched Holly at every stage of the game and the result was never in doubt after the sixth inning.
The Bulletin failed to print that Duffy gave no bases on balls while Holly gave four; that Duffy had no
wild pitches and that Holly had three.

BASEBALL NOTES.
Pitcher Ralph Doll, of the Hopkinsville Kitty League team, has been signed to bolster up Evansville's staff.
He will join the team on their present trip and as soon as he reports,
Fleming will be released.—Evansville
Courier.

Setley, the former K. I. T. League umpire, has been playing second base
with an independent team at Sidney,
Ohio, but has now gone to some other strange land.
Henderson has a new pitcher, says
the Gleaner. R. W. Gilbert, of Michigan, a south paw veteran, has a record
of winning fourteen out of eighteen games pitched this season. His team won the championship of Michigan,
with the exception of the American League team of Detroit. He has a batting per centage of .388. It is the opinion of all who know him that he will make us a second Rube Gardner.
The Cairo Bulletin copied what the Sun said complimenting Empire Zin-kin and added: "The league secretary refused to entertain Ned's resignation for one moment and in reply
complimented him for his honesty,
sobriety and ability and begged him,
as a personal favor, to stick the sen-sen out. And to think that the only roust that Zinkins receives over the entire circuit are those from amateur

Manager Clark Griffith of New York, wired last night from St. Louis confirming his agent's actions in the Holycross matter and the Iron Man will wear an Invader uniform next year at a handsome salary. Furthermore he will earn every dollar of it.
Catcher Land of Paducah, was also recommended to Mr. Griffith's agent.

too, at that, which makes it all the more creditable.—Cairo Bulletin.
Captain Ferrell, of the Hopkinsville
team, stated this morning that Clark
Griffith's man from the American Association was over at Hopkinsville
to see Holycross work the other day
and that Holycross could not deliver the goods. "We got three in the first inning and three in the ninth," Ferrell laughingly stated, "and if Holycross makes good in the big league,
it's a cinch that most any Kitty League pitcher can do the same thing. Another point in favor was Violet's umpiring. He gave Holycross everything to help him out.

Pettifer and Ketter will be Hopkinsville's battery for today.
Brahic and Land will be the battery
for today for the Indians.

Sherman has not shown up and has not even taken the ticket wired him over three days ago. The local management hardly expects him to join the team now.
Bonno's finger is improving wonderfully and he will be able to pitch again Sunday. Bonno is being saved for the Cairo series when he will be pitched four games out of the six.
Freeman's hand is also improving
but he will not be in the game for some time yet.
Collins, the crack second baseman of last year's Clarksville club, will return to that team this week. He has been playing in Syracuse, N. Y.—

CALLED MEETING

TO TAKE UP CHARGE AGAINST A POLICE OFFICER.

The board of police commissioners
meets in called session this evening to take up charges against Officer Aaron Hurley preferred by the proprietor of the Commercial Hotel. It seems a man alleged to have tried to beat his board bill, caused the proprietor to telephone for a policeman, and before the officer arrived the bill was paid
and there was no arrest to be made.
The proprietor did not like the officer's opinion of people who have the police running about for nothing, and made charges of using unbecoming
language, which will probably be dismissed tonight.

HOSPITAL BOARD MEETS.

The board of the I. O. hospital will meet at the hospital August 23, to receive the hospital improvements. It is a regular meeting.

"PADUCAH DICK" IS VERY MUCH ALIVE

Although He is Dead According to the State Laws.

Well-Known Man Tells An Interesting Story to a Cairo Paper About How
He Lost a Fortune.

ONCE LIVED IN PADUCAH.

Richard Grace, better known as "Padu-
car Dick," resides across the Ohio river
almost opposite Cairo and frequently visits here, being well-known among river men and fishermen, says the Cairo Bulletin.

It was he who was taken to Wick
life several weeks ago and fined one cent in a justice's court for knocking a woman down with his fist. The act was evidently justified or he would never have gotten off so easily in a Kentucky court, and to assure the defendant that he meant no harm by fining him, the judge paid the fine himself.

There is another incident in the life of "Paducah Dick" which is perhaps worth relating and through which he was robbed of $14,666.02, on account of a section of Kentucky law which decided that after a resident of the state had been absent from that commonwealth
for a certain number of years he was legally dead.

Richard Grace was one of three sons of J. M. Grace, who was at one time a fairly wealthy citizen of Paducah. He was a roving disposition and refusing to be contented with life in Paducah, he left.

Returning after an absence of several years he found that his father had died leaving an estate valued at $44,000,
and he very naturally desired to possess
one-third of the property.

It was then learned that the statutes
of Kentucky, because of his prolonged absence, barred him from becoming an heir to his portion of the estate, he being considered legally dead. Realizing that it was useless for him to make a legal fight for possession of his property, he allowed the matter to drop.
He is now growing old and has for years been engaged in fishing and occasional turning to painting which he learned in his younger days. During his visits to Cairo he frequently relates the story and jests with his boon companions about being legally dead.

The subject lies on his back part of the time, but occasionally shifts his natural or hypnotic sleep. The subject will be kept buried the remainder of the day and until shortly after supper tonight when the grave will be opened and the subject conveyed to The Kentucky where he will brought out of his trance by Prof. Corby.

Following a brief lecture on his art,
Prof. Corby will proceed to give an exhibition. The show will be a good one and it is expected will be liberally patronized. It is conducted under the auspices of the Red Men and quite a neat little sum has been netted already out of the exhibition.

THE WEATHER.

THE POPULIST MOVEMENT.

Congressman Ollie James will have to hike himself to the woolly dells this fall to hold his job. His erstwhile allies, the Populists, are after his scalp.

For the past eight years the Populists in the First District have caused the Democrats no trouble. The two parties and their platforms became so similar that the Populists readily consented to support the Democrats, and have done it until the Democrats this year put out a goldbug ticket on a sound money declaration. The Pops, draw the line at that, and will have a candidate of their own for congress this fall.

They expect not only to poll a large per cent. of former Populists in the district, but all those free silver Democrats who refuse to capitulate to the Cleveland-Hill-Belmont faction, as well. How many there are of these Populists and disgruntled Democrats remains to be seen. There are enough, however, to give Congressman James a few bad half hours when he thinks about it.

In 1894, Ben Keyes, running on the Populist ticket, polled over 10,000 votes. Since then there have been no races, it is claimed, in which the Populists took much interest. This year the party leaders seems to see a ray of light, and will make a vigorous fight to gather into the fold their own adherents, as well as the free silver Democrats.

Congressman James, who has been east basking in golden sunshine on the plutocratic shores of fashionable summer resorts, has heard the news and will hasten home to begin speaking September 2, in Livingston county. It will be interesting to hear how he explains what's the matter with Democracy.

BEING A CANDIDATE.

Hon. Henry Cassoway Davis, just notified of his nomination for vice-president, by the Democrats, was in the United States Senate from 1871 to 1883. In one of his speeches he then declared: "I regret very much that I cannot agree with all my Democratic associates."

"I find when the tight times or financial panics came, that almost invariably they came at times of low tariffs." In other words, Senator Davis is a high tariff man—a protectionist. He declared in his recent speech of acceptance:

tion and its nominee for President, regard the present monetary standard of value as irrevocably established."

This shows that he is now willing to indorse the Democratic platform for the sake of running for office. How do the free silver, free trade Democrats like that? No wonder the Populists are getting away again!

FEUD COUNTIES.

The Henderson Gleaner takes seriously the Chicago Tribune's little pleasantry:

"They had a twenty inning ball game at Henderson, Ky., last week, but then they have feuds in the same neighborhood that started in 1842 and are not over yet."

The Gleaner's logic seems to be as befogged and inadequate as its sense of humor, for it retorts in unmistakable asperity:

"We would have the Tribune and other Republican papers of the North and elsewhere understand that feuds exist in Kentucky only in the portions that show Republican majorities."

The Gleaner has its dates mixed. The only feud county in Kentucky worthy of serious consideration, is Breathitt, a Democratic stronghold and the proud abiding place of Judge Hargis, Sheriff Callahan, et al.—Hargis, who has just been declared the Democratic nominee for judge of the court of appeals, by virtue of one of the most disgraceful convention steals in the state's history. This Democratic breeding place is the same county in which troops had to be kept for several weeks to prevent the feud factions from exterminating each other and the rest of the population—a disaster obviated probably only because the county is Democratic, and the machine needed the votes.

Name one Republican county half as bad as Breathitt, and we'll take off our hats.

Down at Benton, Ky., there is a hot race for the Democratic nomination for jailor, and the incumbent Mr. J. M. Johnson, urges in a card to the Tribune-Democrat the following reasons for deserving indorsement: "When I was a candidate before, I promised the people if they would elect me, that I would build a brick roller mill in the town of Benton, and notwithstanding that I was bitterly opposed in this enterprise by some parties, I built the mill, and redeemed my word to the people, although I had difficulties to overcome that I did not expect to meet. It has been said that if it had not been for my promise to build a mill that I could not have been elected at all, so now my friends, I will not build another mill, but I ask you to stand by me once more."

The annual assessment will soon begin in Paducah. It is intended that every citizen should pay taxes on every thing taxable he possesses. It is right and just, and the city needs the money. Every dollar's worth of property that escapes the assessor makes it that much harder on those who have given in a correct list. To go over the annual assessments of Paducah, it is clear to anyone that a very small part of the taxable personal property has been listed, and some steps should be taken to list it all. It will make the tax rate lower, or if the tax rate is not reduced, will give the city a great deal more money for necessary expenses. Under the new charter property owners are required to make affidavit to their taxable possessions, and if the city sees that the law is enforced, there is every reason to believe that the benefit will be great.

WILL PROBABLY RECOVER.

Colonel H. H. Hobson, circuit clerk, is still very ill as a result of his recent fall and his advanced age. While his condition is serious, recovery is expected, his many friends will be pleased to learn.

MORE NEW MACHINERY.

New machinery for the local I. C. shops continues to arrive, this morning a fine lathe, made for the finer class of work, being received. It will be used in the tool room for repairing tools exclusively.

ABILENA

Abilena is natural water. It holds in solution salts dissolved from natural deposits in the earth. It is Nature's cathartic compound—a natural mineral water. Mineral waters are recognized everywhere as the most efficient, as well as the least injurious, cathartics. Abilena is the best mineral water on the American market. It is The American Natural Cathartic. The discovery of Abilena was a simple revelation of nature. For a long time after the first well was dug, the water, being unfit for domestic purposes, was not used at all. Practical tests afterward disclosed its medicinal properties and the report of its virtue was rapidly disseminated. Finally several chemists analyzed the water and the results manifested its great therapeutic value and preindicated its future renown. Sold only by

FROM NEWS BUTCH

Sam Williamson Blows Into Paducah Again.

Six Years Ago He Left Paducah Without a Cent—Came Back In an Automobile.

NOW LIVES IN THE FUTURE GREAT

Six years ago Sam G. Williamson, who for thirteen years ran on the I. C. between Paducah and St. Louis as news agent, walked out of Paducah penniless. Yesterday afternoon he returned in an automobile, and worth in the neighborhood of $30,000, an accomplishment he can justly feel proud of.

Mr. Williamson, "Dave," as he was known here, has many friends who will be pleased to learn of his good success and good fortune. Mr. Williamson married a Paducah girl, Miss Maggie Smith, a sister of Captain Billy Smith, the steamboat pilot, and his family is here with him visiting Mrs. Williamson's relatives.

Mr. Williamson tells his experiences after leaving Paducah, as follows:

"I left here six years ago, having given up the train business and rail-roading forever, and all the money I got was carefully saved until I could go into business right. I invested in small affairs first and gradually worked myself into larger things until today I own a third interest in the Hamilton Hotel in St. Louis and a half interest in the Stout-Williamson Advertising Co., both businesses yielding quite a neat profit annually. I am at present advertising the hotel and will be in Paducah three weeks or longer, after which, I will go to other towns to advertise."

Mr. Williamson has a fine 8-horse power Motor Car and last year made a trip from St. Louis overland to Florida. He is quite an automobile enthusiast, and can be seen in most any part of the town riding in his big machine.

Mr. Williamson is stopping at the Palmer House and is the same Sam Williamson of years ago, the only perceptible change being that he is highly prosperous now.

He isn't ashamed of his earlier experiences as a "news butch," and says it is how he got the training, experience, and knowledge of human nature which have since been of so much service to him in carving out his future.

Mr. Philander Pool Has About Recovered Now.

MINOR CASES TRIED TODAY.

The case against Mr. Philander Pool who is alleged to have pointed a gun at Attorney Wm. F. Bradshaw Wednesday afternoon, was again continued this morning on account of the absence of Mr. Pool who on account of a nervous attack, has been rendered mentally unbalanced.

Mr. Pool showed up this morning after court and seemed to be himself, having recovered from the nervousness. He was informed that his case would be tried tomorrow morning and stated he would be on hand.

Fines aggregating $350 were imposed against keepers of West Kentucky resorts this morning in police court. Eleven madames were arraigned and each received a fine of $30 and costs.

Alfred Murray, colored, and John O'Connell, white, were fined $1 and costs for drunkenness.

The case against Archie Perry, a negro, for using insulting language, was continued.

Julia Hughlett, colored, and Geo. Shaw, white, were arraigned for a breach of the peace, the former being fined $10 and costs and the latter $1 and costs.

The case against the boys who are alleged to have torn up furniture and clocks in the Franklin school house, was left open for further proof. Harry Cohen, one of the boys reported in the crowd, was not implicated in it.

Jim Magner, white, who got drunk and acted disorderly, was fined $10 and costs.

CONFESSED AND
RETURNED PLUNDER

Young Man of Weakley County, Tenn., Arrested Here.

Alleged to Have Burglarized a Jewelry Store—Stolen Goods Here.

RETURNS WITHOUT REQUISITION.

Luther Farmer, of Weakley County, Tenn., who is said to come from a prominent family; his father being worth in the neighborhood of $100,000, was arrested in this city last night by Officers Potter and Gourieux on a warrant charging him with breaking into the general merchandise store of Williams & Bro., at Greenfield, Tenn. Tuesday night and taking jewelry and other articles valued at about $150.

Farmer was "spotted" by Marshal McDade, of Fulton, who came here yesterday at noon to work the case up. He conferred with local police, giving a good description of the boy, and shortly after noon the young man was arrested and lodged in jail to be tried this morning.

Farmer is 22 years of age and when arrested had on a pair of overalls and looked every thing but what he really is. He stood trial this morning and on being positively identified, was ordered into custody and back to Tennessee. The sheriff will arrive tonight to take the young man back, he having agreed to return without requisition papers.

After Farmer was arrested and held, he was taken aside and "sweated" by Chief Collins and officer Ed Clark, and admitted of having hidden the jewelry here. Chief Collins learned he sold or pawned a watch at Cohen's and later with the boy went to a warehouse where Farmer disclosed a sock full of watches, rings, charms and jewelry. The articles were locked up in a small vault and will be expressed to Greenfield for evidence in the case.

In the arrest of Farmer, the local police exhibited good work. It was only a short time after the Fulton officer arrived that the police were on the trail of young Farmer and had him.

STOLEN GOODS

TAKEN FROM PEMBROKE, KY., RECOVERED IN TENNESSEE.

Clarksville, Tenn., August 19.—Chief of Police Robinson, of this city, has recovered four dozen gold filled set rings that were stolen from the store of W. L. Lander, of Pembroke, Ky., on the night of Sunday, August 7. Floyd Fields and George Owen, two negroes, who broke out of the Clarksville calaboose the night before the robbery, went from here to Pembroke, and were seen there the day of the robbery. Later Fields was arrested at Guthrie, Ky., and returned to Clarksville.

He had concealed about his person the missing rings, which he succeeded in sending to Frank Newells, a colored restaurant keeper here. The goods have been recovered from Newell, who has been arrested charged with concealing stolen property, and Fields, who is serving his unexpired term in the city workhouse, will be held charged with the Pembroke robbery. Owen, who is thought to have taken part in the robbery with Fields, is still at large.

WANTED IN OHIO ON SEVERAL CHARGES

Chief McNutt, of Mayfield, Lands Good Catch.

Will Erwin Caught at Paris, Tenn., and Will Be Returned to Clinton County, Ohio.

LAST OF A GANG TO BE CAUGHT.

Mayfield, Ky., Aug. 19.—Will Erwin the man who was wanted here a few weeks ago by the officials from Clinton County, Ohio, was arrested in Paris, Tenn., Wednesday and recognized by Chief McNutt today as the man wanted and who gave the officers the slip near Clay Switch. It is reported that he remained in this county until about ten days ago when he went to Paris, Tenn., and his whereabouts was found out over the long distance telephone when he phoned his brother for money.

Vandervort, the sheriff of Clinton County, Ohio, will arrive here today to meet Chief McNutt. He will get requisition papers for the governor of Tennessee and take his prisoner back to Ohio, where he is wanted in connection with Minnick who was taken from here some time since.

Will Erwin, alias John-Lewis, has been wanted in Wilmington, Ohio, for about a year on the charge of arson. Three men and one woman were wanted on the same charge, and all have been arrested and convicted with the exception of Erwin. Erwin was formerly a detective of Cincinnati, but after he got into the trouble at Wilmington, left for parts unknown and was finally located at Clay Switch, Graves county, where he had been living with his brother, Duck Erwin, for some time. An aged man by the name of Minnick, who was also implicated in the charge of arson with Erwin, was arrested several weeks ago near Mayfield and carried back to Ohio.

These men are charged with making an infernal machine used to start incendiary fires.

Duck Erwin, a brother of Will Erwin, who was a short time ago caught and held up for investigation by the officers thinking he was Will Erwin, has filed a suit of $3,000 against each of the three officers, who arrested him. Two of the defendants to the suit are Police-man John Lewis, of Mayfield, and Rile Allen, of near Mayfield. There is said to be a handsome reward for the capture of Erwin. Chief McNutt will get it for his services.

REPORTS ROBBERY

A Railroad Man Claims He Was Assaulted.

BELEATED REPORT TO THE POLICE DETERS THEM IN CATCHING THIEVES.

Hendrick Smith, a foreigner employed at Tennessee river bridge as an air expert in the excavating being done there, was knocked down by two white men and a negro, he claims, last night about 11 o'clock near Seventh and Adams streets and robbed of his watch, chain and charm, $9 in cash and a check for $16.

He says that he was knocked in the head but his head shows little evidence of having been badly used. The matter was reported to the police this morning. Hendricks not caring to come to the hall late last night, and on account of the delay in report, the police expect to be unable to ascertain anything which may lead to the identity of the highwaymen.

If you are not feeling well just take another look at the last bill your doctor rendered and it's ten to one you will feel better.—Chicago News.

Every Lump of Sturgis Coal
Is a Chunk of Intense Heat

A high grade bituminous coal.

It's light in weight—yet firm and solid—with lots of body to it, making it a heat producing coal.

It's clean—contains an unusual amount of carbon and oil—it readily ignites. It burns to a white ash—throwing out an intense heat—comparatively no clinkers.

BIG ADDITION

COVINGTON BROTHERS TO ADD TO THEIR PLANT IN THE NEAR FUTURE.

It is understood that Covington Bros., the wholesale grocers at Third and Jefferson streets who recently bought out the Noble-Overy company, are in the near future to greatly enlarge their present building by a handsome addition to make room for the immense stock necessary for their increased business. The plans are now being drawn. It is also understood that the company will ask permission of the city to run a spur track from the Illinois Central river front tracks to their plant, in order that cars may be loaded and unloaded at their doors. This spur track will be asked for by both Covington Bros., and the street car company, the latter desiring it to touch their power house to facilitate the delivery of coal, of which they use vast quantities every year.

COUNTY TEACHERS
ARE DISPLEASED

They Will Get Less Per Month This Year.

The Term Is Increased, But the Per Capita Has Been Cut Down By the State.

THE REASON IS UNKNOWN.

The county teachers all over the state are indignant over the reduction in their salaries. The trouble is thus clearly made known by the Bowling Green News:

"The Kentucky School Teachers are up in arms against a reduction in their salaries and the addition of another month to the school session. The price per capita has been reduced from $3.20 to $2.95 and the teachers do not like it a bit, especially as they will be required to teach an additional month.

The teachers have never been well paid and now to cut them twenty-five cents on the pupil and have them teach one extra month seems bad and in all probability some of them will resign rather than accept the cut.

"To sum up the situation in a nutshell, the teacher who last year received $3.20 per capita for teaching five months, will receive this year $2.95 for teaching six months and they think it is not right and are not in a very pleasant frame of mind over the more than ten per cent. reduction in salary and the more than fifteen per cent. increase in school work."

A McCracken county teacher stated today when asked about it, that while the teachers would receive more money on the whole school term, they will get less a month. They will teach six months for slightly more than they have been receiving for five months' work.

"I can't tell what the cause is," said the teacher in question. "We were first encouraged by the premature announcement from Mr. Fugate that the per capita would be more than $3.20, what it was last year, but instead it was cut down to $2.95. I don't know why it is, as much money is collected as before and we don't know where it goes, but I know it is true, so far as we are concerned."

ROCKED THE BOAT

AND THE JOKERS SAW THEIR COMPANION DROWN.

Cairo, Ill., August 19.—The remains of Thurston W. Burnell, who drowned in Brewer's Lake, Mo., Wednesday afternoon were recovered by a diver, and the body was shipped to Memphis.

Young Burnell was in bathing in the lake with some other young men. They had a dug-out on which they were hanging, some of the boys were rocking the boat, and Burnell asked them to stop, as he could not swim. They asked if he was not able to hold on.

He implored them again to stop, when he lost his grip on the boat, and sank in the water.

One of the party made a heroic effort to save him but failed, being nearly drowned himself in the effort.

PAPERS NOT SERVED

AS THE BOAT OWNERS PROMISED TO SETTLE UP.

United States Marshal George W. Saunders returned yesterday afternoon from Kuttawa, where he went to serve some libels on the officers of the Steamer Dick Clyde.

The Clyde is at Nashville, but the officers are in Kuttawa with some barges. They told the marshal that if the libels were sent to them they would be settled, so the processes were not served. United States Clerk Puryear sent the papers to Kuttawa, and it is likely that the claims, which are small, will be settled at once.

Marshall Saunders left last evening for Mayfield, where he is a witness in a case in court there today.

To know how to dress well a woman must possess a sense of humor.

NOT FUNNY

German Struck a Small Boy Over a Joke.

Was Fined $5 For Not Having the Proper Sense of Humor.

Louis Schrent, a German, does not approve of the small boy's methods of pleasure, and for his unfortunate inability in not knowing how to take a joke, was fined $5 and costs in police court this morning.

Herbert, the little adopted son of City Jailor Tom Everts, was playing near Fourth and Kentucky Avenue this morning about 8:30 with a small hollow rubber ball. He would fill the ball with water and when any one passed would squirt it at them.

Schrent passed and received the contents of the ball full in the face. The small boy laughed, thinking the German knew how to take the joke, and made no pretense of running which he would have done had he thought he was doing wrong.

Schrent did not see the joke and with a swipe of his high hand, knocked the little fellow down. The boy alighted in the gutter and Schrent was arrested. He could speak a little English, just enough to make the court understand that he thought he had been imposed on. The court did not think the act justified his assault, and fined him.

ONLY FIVE WENT.

Not more than five local Woodmen of the World attended the log rolling at Dawson today on account of the threatening weather. Twenty-eight of the local Uniform Rank intended going and had made arrangements for a private car to be attached to the regular accommodation train, but this morning the rain defeated their plans.

The lock in the Cumberland at Harbor's Shoals, known as Look A, has been completed. The dam which is being built on these shoals will be finished this year. The government has a large force of men at this point and the work is being rushed.

Reading water is one of the accomplishments of pilots and it is often said of this one or that one he can read water like a book. Some imaginative poet has seen "A Letter in the Candle" and "pictures in the smoke," but reading water is the real thing and not imagination. The surface of the water tells the pilot who can read it, where the reef is; when it is deep or shallow and which way the channel goes.

TAKING HIS ANNUAL VACATION

Mr. W. C. Scofield, foreman of the local I. C. blacksmith shops, has gone to Indianapolis and Chicago on his annual vacation and will be gone some time. Mr. Jerome Smith is acting foreman in Mr. Scofield's absence.

Mr. George Wardfield, the newly appointed ticket agent at the I. C. depot, left today for St. Louis to attend the fair while he is being checked out as cashier at the freight department.

Help you to a liberal portion from our Business Men's Lunch at noon time. Everything good in satisfying Liquors, Wines and Beers to go with it. A Good cigar afterwards. This plan beats going home for dinner on hot days.

The ENGAGEMENT OF DOROTHY

[Copyright, 1904, by T. C. McClure.]

There were only three of us sitting in the club when the major came in. I never knew why he was called major, except, perhaps, because his name was Miner, and that he had a sort of military bearing. I asked him about it once. "Didn't you ever hear the story," he said, "of how General Williamson got his title?"

I said that I had never heard it. "Well," continued the major, "he was a general ticket agent for the Chicago and South Pacific railroad."

With which evasive answer the major turned to his paper and refused to converse further on the subject.

As I said, there were only three of us in the club when the major came in. He seemed nervous, and called the boy to bring him some hot buttered rum. The night was bitterly cold, and Channing, Wilton and I had been waiting about, wishing that the storm would cease. It did not, so we waited longer. Then the major came.

"Hello," he said, and passed us to give his order at the desk. Then he sat down at a table and began to write rapidly. He called the boy again, and asked that he bring for a messenger. The messenger appeared. The major handed him a note and some coins and told him to take a cab.

"Must be in a hurry," suggested Channing.

"I am," said the major, "for if that note doesn't get where it belongs within an hour it will be all up with Kemble."

He sat down with us and began stirring his rum thoughtfully.

"Great stuff, rum," he said. "I've been thinking for a long time that I'm going to spend my declining years down on the cape somewhere. I shall have a thatched cottage, some nasturtiums growing in a wrecked dory on the lawn, and I shall sit on the beach, dressed in a sou'wester and oilskins, scanning the horizon for incoming loggers. Each logger will be laden with hot buttered rum."

The major slipped his drink meditatively.

"You fellows want to hear a love story," he asked.

"Yes, let 'er go," said Wilton.

We settled back in our chairs, prepared to listen, for it was an unusual thing for the major to volunteer a story of any kind.

"I shan't tell you the end of the story till the boy gets back," he began.

"Is the boy the hero?" inquired Channing.

"Not exactly, but he bears an important message to the hero," said the major.

Then he went on, and none of us interrupted him for some minutes. He talked slowly and picked his words carefully.

"It was this way," he began. "There was a man once who was a lawyer, and he had a ward who had been left to his care by her father when he died. The lawyer was a bachelor, and he took her property and sent her to school and to college and abroad and wherever he thought she might grow to be the woman her father had hoped she might be. Then when she came home to live he fell in love with her. That's all there is of the first chapter."

The major picked up his glass and held it between the light and his eyes. "Great stuff, hot buttered rum on a cold night," he commented.

Then he went on. "This man found that he was forgetting to do his work. He was thinking about her most of the time, and he began to lose confidence in his ability to win cases. He lost some that he should have won. Then he began to reason with himself, and he suddenly discovered that he couldn't do anything more anyhow till he had told her he loved her and found out what she thought about it. Mind you, he was old enough to be her father."

"So one night he went to her house and was prepared to tell her what he wanted to. They sat together before the library fire. Then the man began to talk. 'I have thought, Dorothy,' he said, 'that it is about time you were married.' Then the young woman came over and laid her hand on his shoulder. 'I have thought so, too,' she said.

"The man went on talking. 'Is there any one you care for particularly?' he asked. 'Yes,' she said, 'but we quarreled after we had been engaged two days, and I know I ought to have told you about the engagement; but, Uncle Billy, honest, I wanted to keep it to myself for a little time yet.'"

"Then the man tried to tell her how much he loved her, but somehow he couldn't. He just asked her who the man was that he had become engaged to. She told him, and told him, too, that the quarrel didn't amount to anything and that she wanted him to come to luncheon with you, Gregory."

The major turned to me—"and me tomorrow at 1 o'clock."

The major stopped.

"What do you mean?" I asked.

"Wait till the boy comes back," said the major.

Presently the boy returned with a note. The major opened it and read it. Then he handed it to me. This was what it said:

My Dear Major—Will meet you and Mr. Gregory with my mother and Miss Gordon at the Touraine at 1 tomorrow. Thank you for what you have done. Very sincerely,
A. L. KEMBLE.

"Channing," began the major when I had finished reading, "and you, Wilton, you are both pretty close friends of our families, and I am glad I have the honor of announcing to you the engagement of Mr. Gregory's niece and my ward, Miss Dorothy Seiden, to Mr. Alfred L. Kemble."

HEAVY TASK

SEVENTY-THREE BUILDINGS BEING SOLD TO MAKE ROOM FOR A TERMINAL.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 19.—Auctioneer Esakiel has begun the biggest job ever cut out for an auctioneer in Ohio when he began the sale of seventy-three buildings that are to be wrecked to make room for the Cincinnati Southern railroad terminal.

The sections of the city bounded by Front and Water streets and Vine and Plum streets will be cleared of buildings, the approximate cost of which is $600,000.

The amount the seventy-three buildings will bring at auction, however, will be less, as everything will go for anything that it will bring.

The work of wrecking will completely change the aspect of that part of the city. The buildings to be destroyed consist of warehouses, ordinary business rooms, dwelling houses and sites for various kinds of domestic business.

The entire site will cost the trustees $1,350,000.

HERBINE

Restores the bile more fluid and thus helps the blood to flow; it affords prompt relief from biliousness, indigestion, sick and nervous headaches, and the over-indulgence in food and drink. Herbine acts quickly, a dose after meals will bring the patient in to a good condition in a few days.

G. L. Caldwell Agt., M. K. and T. R. L. Chocotah, Ind., Ter., writes, April 1, 1903: "I was sick for over two years with enlargement of the liver and spleen. The doctors did me no good, and I had given up all hope of being cured, when my druggist advised me to use Herbine. It has made me sound and well." 50c. DuBois, Kolb & Co.

SOUND SHADOWS.

In the course of a recent lecture at the Royal Institution on "Sound Shadows," Lord Rayleigh referred to Marconi's feat of signaling across the Atlantic, and said that the explanation of it was obscure, because from what is known of the sound shadows the etherial waves could only pass with great difficulty around such an object as was constituted by the intervening sea, which rose something like a hundred miles above a straight line between the two wireless stations.

Although it is difficult for a sound wave to pass a concave surface the effect is reversed. The familiar whispering galleries are illusions of this. The sound seems to cling to the sides, as it may be completely blocked by holding a comparatively narrow strip of wood vertically against the walls at any point between the noise and the listener.—New York Commercial.

CURES SCIATICA.

Rev. W. L. Riley, L. L. D., Cuba, New York, writes: "After fifteen days of excruciating pain from sciatica rheumatism, under various treatments, I was induced to try Ballard's Snow Liniment; the first application giving my first relief and the second entire relief. I can give it unqualified recommendation." 25c, 50c, $1.00 DuBois, Kolb & Co.

$75,000 SAVED BY AN EXPERIMENT

Illinois Central Learns That Larger Wires Unnecessary.

Will Instead Use New Kind of Transmitters For Its Long Distance Telephones.

THEY GIVE GOOD SATISFACTION.

Because of the satisfactory results of three week's experiments with high potential transmitters on the long distance wire between Chicago and Memphis, the I. C. road has decided it will not be necessary to supplant the present long distance wire, which was thought to be inadequate on account of its smallness, by a larger wire.

This means a saving of perhaps $75,000 to the road, but had the larger wire been put up, the old wire would have been used for short circuit telephone or business telegraph work.

Superintendent Groce, of the telegraph department of the I. C., stated this morning before he left on the general manager's special for the south, that the experiments with the high potential transmitters had been even more successful than anticipated.

The service for 400 miles was at first satisfactory on the small wire, but when it came to talking to New Orleans from Chicago, this was impossible because of the inability of the wire to carry with the weak current. The new transmitting arrangement with high potential powers makes it possible, and the road will immediately begin putting in such transmitters along the entire distance from New Orleans to Chicago.

"Sing!" he shouted as the Chinaman clambered away like a bewildered ape. "Sing a little more! I would if I were you. Why don't you sing and wave, you fool philly-oo bird?"

"Yes, sah," answered the cooly.

"What you yell for? Charlie, ask him what he sing?"

"I tinkum ship," answered Charlie calmly, looking over the starboard quarter.

"Ship?"

"Him velly sick," hazarded the Chinaman from the railings, adding a sentence in Chinese to Charlie.

"He says he tinkum ship sick, all same; ask um something—ship velly sick."

By this time the captain, Wilbur and all on board could plainly make out a sail some eight miles off the starboard bow. Even at that distance and to eyes so inexperienced as those of Wilbur it seemed but a glance to know that something was wrong with her. It was not that she failed to ride the waves with even keel; it was not that her rigging was in disarray nor that her sails were disordered. Her distance was too great to make out such details. But in precisely the same manner as a trained physician glances at a doomed patient, and from that indefinable look in the face of him and the eyes of him pronounced the verdict "death," so Kitchell took in the stranger with a single comprehensive glance and exclaimed:

"Well, of course I'm with you, cap."

"Well, of course I'm with you, cap," she said. "I'm out for anything that there's stuff in. I guess I'm more of a beachcomber by nature than anything else. If she's abandoned she belongs to us. We'll go beachcombin', you an' I. We'll board that bark an' work her into the nearest port—San Diego, I guess—an' get the salvage on her if we have to swim in her. Are you with me?" He held out his hand. The man was positively trembling from head to heel. It was impossible to resist the excitement of the situation, its novelty—the high crow's nest of the schooner, the keen salt air, the Chinamen grouped far below, the indigo of the warm ocean, and out yonder the forsaken derelict, rolling her light hull till the garboard streak flashed in the sun.

"Well, of course I'm with you, cap," exclaimed Wilbur, gripping Kitchell's hand. "When there's thirty thousand to be had for the asking I guess I'm a 'na'chel baw'n' beachcomber myself."

"Now, nothing about this to the coolies."

"But how will you make out with your owners? Aren't you bound to bring the Bertha in?"

"Not my owners!" exclaimed Kitchell. "I ain't a skipper of no old boat any longer. I'm a beachcomber." He fixed the wallowing bark with glistering eyes. "Strike me," he murmured, "ain't she a daisy? It's a little Klondike. Come on, son!"

The two went down the railings, and Kitchell ordered a couple of the hands into the dory that had been rowing astern. He and Wilbur followed. Charlie was left on board, with direction to lay the schooner to. The dory flew over the water, Wilbur setting the stroke. In a few moments she was well up with the bark. Though a larger boat than the Bertha Miller, she was rolling in lamentable fashion, and every laboring heave showed her bottom incrustated with barnacles and seaweed.

"That's it B, meanin' I am in need of assistance."

"Well, where's the crew? I don't see anybody on board."

"Oh, they're there right enough."

"Then they're pretty well concealed about the premises," returned Wilbur as he passed the glass to the captain.

"She does seem kinda empty," said the captain in a moment, with a sudden show of interest that Wilbur failed to understand.

"An' where's her boats?" continued Kitchell. "I don't just quite make out any boats at all." There was a long silence.

"Seems to be a sort of haze over her," observed Wilbur.

"I noticed that air kinda quivers oily-like. No boats, no boats, an' I can't see anybody aboard." Suddenly Kitchell lowered the glass and turned to Wilbur. He was a different man. There was a new shine in his eyes; a wicked line appeared over the nose; the jaw grew salient, prognathous.

"Son," he exclaimed, glistening Wilbur with his contracted eyes, "I have ree-marked as how you had brains. I kin fool the coolies, but I can't fool you. It looks to me as if that bark yonder was a derelict. An' do you know what that means to us? Chaw on it a turn."

"A derelict?"

"If there's a crew on board, they're concealed from the public gaze. An' where are the boats then? I figger she's an abandoned derelict. Do you know what that means for us—for you and I? It means—and, gripping Wilbur by the shoulders, he spoke the word into his face with a savage intensity—"It means salvage, do you savvy? Salvage, salvage! Do you figger what salvage on a 700 tonner would come to? Well, just lemme drop it into your thick tank, an' I say, it's all the ways from fifty to seventy thousand dollars, whatever her cargo is. Call it sixty thousand—thirty thousand apiece. Oh, I don't know!" he exclaimed, lapsing to landman's slang.

"What'd I say about a million to one on the unexpected at sea?"

"Thirty thousand!" exclaimed Wilbur, without thought as yet.

"Now y'r singin' songs," cried the captain. "Listen to me, son," he went on, rapidly shutting up the glass and thrusting it back in the case. "My name's Kitchell, and I'm bog right through!" He emphasized the words with a leveled forefinger, his eyes flashing. "H-o-g spells very truly yours, Alvin Kitchell; ninety-nine swine an' me make a hundred swine. I'm a shote with both feet in the trough first, last an' always. If that bark's abandoned, an' I says she is,

He, She— And Charles Augustus

By F. B.
WRIGHT
Copyright, 1904, by
T. C. McClure

Charles Augustus had had a most unpleasant day. It had commenced well enough, but had clouded over soon after he had started on his lessons about the dog and the rat and the active cat. Then Higgins had brought Miss Purvis a letter, and with it something had entered into Charles Augustus' life that he could by no means understand.

You see, Charles Augustus loved his governess greatly. She came next to his father and mother and way above the goat. Charles Augustus had quite decided to marry Miss Purvis when he grew up and had even talked over the details with the young lady herself.

The letter, when she read it, made Miss Purvis' face go all pink and beautiful, and then pale and her eyes fill with tears. Then she put the letter away in the bosom of her gown, and Charles Augustus thought that was the end of it. But it was not, for as often as he looked up from his book or slate he saw Miss Purvis reading the letter, and each time he saw tears in her eyes.

What could it be in those scrawly black marks to make people cry? He cried when he was spanked or shut up in a closet or had to do something he did not want to—but this wasn't like that. Charles Augustus could not understand this silent crying. When he cried he wanted to let the whole world know—and usually succeeded.

Later, when lessons were over, he saw Miss Purvis, through the window, writing a letter, and she was crying over that. Plainly there was something in this writing business which was decidedly unpleasant. Charles Augustus decided then and there that he would never write. Then when she had finished she went off to the village and would not let Charles Augustus go with her.

In that half hour of easy time which came when Charles Augustus had shifted from his day things into the ample lengths of his flannel pyjamas and, cuddled down into the big chair with Miss Purvis, toasted his pink toes before the fire preparatory to going to bed, he came once more across this peculiar thing which he could not understand, for Miss Purvis was strangely silent, only answering a listless yes or no to his observations on life and the curious ways of people and the idiosyncrasies of the goat. She did not take much interest even when he touched upon the many things he would give her when he became a man and they were married—the rings like mamma's and an express wagon and a jar of ginger. Though her arm drew him close when he told her how much he loved her, yet Charles Augustus was not satisfied. He felt as though something invisible were between them.

He put up a hand and turned her face toward him.

"You do love me, don't you?" he said. "And you will wait for me until I am big?"

She kissed him and told him "Yes." She would always be his sweetheart. "But I'm afraid, dear, I'll have to go away. Will you mind?"

Charles Augustus minded very much and said so, and the thought kept him awake long after he had got into his bed. Through the door he could see Miss Purvis and the fire. Then he saw her of a sudden bend forward, her face in her arms, and hear her sob.

Though he wanted to comfort her, something told Charles Augustus that Miss Purvis wanted to be let alone. At last she raised her tear stained face.

"No, it must not be!" Charles Augustus heard her say. "They would think it was for his money. It is better as it is—better for him. I must leave here as soon as I can, and, oh, I don't want to!"

Then Miss Purvis took the letter, kissed it and put it in a box on her dressing table, a box with curious patterns in mother of pearl on it, and with a queer lock that only she and Charles Augustus knew how to open.

Charles Augustus' mind started to work this thing out. This letter was the cause of Miss Purvis' feeling bad. It must be taken away—that was all about it.

The room was quiet; the fire died to a little glow of winking embers; Miss Purvis was asleep. Charles Augustus got up and got the letter. Then he hid it under the mattress and went to sleep with a lighter heart. Now Miss Purvis would be happy again, and she would not go away.

But the next day Miss Purvis was not happy. True, she did not cry, nor did she read the letter which Charles Augustus had craftily tucked inside his blouse, but yet she was not the Miss Purvis of a fortnight, who laughed and sang and romped on the lawn with him. It was not the mere possession of the letter then. What was it?

"He must not come." "I must leave here." Charles Augustus remembered those words. Some one was coming then; some one who would carry Miss Purvis, the beloved, away. Charles Augustus thought of giants and gypsies and grew horribly alive to the exigencies of the occasion. His father and mother were away, so he could not go to them for advice.

There was only one man in Charles Augustus' confidence, and he was very big and strong and knew everything. Next to the goat, who was manifestly inadequate under the circumstances, Charles Augustus adored this man. He lived in a house by himself, a long,

long way off beyond the most distant trees.

Charles Augustus saw the man that afternoon. He had come to call, but Miss Purvis had excused herself. She had a headache, she said. Now, the man, whose name was Mr. Houghton, was going down the drive with great strides, and so intent on his own thoughts that he did not hear Charles Augustus call to him. It took him a long time to catch up with the man. Indeed it did not happen until the latter had turned off into the woods and Charles Augustus' hat had been lost on the road and his legs much scratched with briars. Then Charles Augustus told his story—about the letter and how she had kissed it and yet cried and was going away.

"And she said 'I can't! I can't!' like that," ended Charles Augustus. "He mustn't never know," she said, and 'he mustn't never come here.'"

What wasn't he to know, and who was he, and did Mr. Houghton think it was a giant that was coming to carry Miss Purvis off? Then Charles Augustus took the letter from his blouse—and then the man knew.

"I'm afraid it is a giant," said Mr. Houghton gravely, "and it's lucky I heard of it in time, because I was going away tomorrow. But now—"

"But now?" said Charles Augustus anxiously.

"Now I think I'll go right back to the house with you."

"And you won't let her be taken—I mean taken—away?" said Charles Augustus.

"No, she isn't going away," the man replied—"at least not very far."

They got out into the road and started back, Charles Augustus' hand in that of his friend and his small shoes plowing through the dust. And then, at a turn in the road, they came suddenly on Miss Purvis, very white and scared looking and carrying Charles Augustus' hat. "Charlie," she cried, "I thought you were lost!"

Charles Augustus plunged toward her. "I told him!" he cried triumphantly. "I've told him all about the letter and how you cried because the giant was going to carry you off, and he says the giant shan't and that you are going to live here happily ever after, amen, like people do in fairy stories. And you are, ain't you?"

Miss Purvis looked at the man a second, and then her face came all pink—and then she said "Yes."

It was a very happy walk back home to Charles Augustus, except that he for some reason could not manage to walk between his two friends and hold both their hands at the same time, a thing which Charles Augustus particularly wished.

Tit For Tat.
Mr. A. was a millionaire. He was fifty. He met Miss B. Miss B. was a milliner. She was twenty.

Mr. A. fell in love with Miss B. He asked her to marry him. They were married.

In ten years Mr. A. was sixty. Mrs. A. was then thirty. Mr. A. was still in love with his wife. But he had found out that she was not in love with him, and that she never would be in love with him. He brooded over this. And he died from a broken heart. But he left her all his money.—Town Topics.

Skeptic and Realist.
Mr. Dolan looked at his visitor with an expression of confirmed opposition, and during the friend's argument he further emphasized his disagreement by an occasional emphatic shake of the head.

"Now, I don't hold wid loife insurance companies, nor yet wid savings banks," he said stubbornly. "A cousin o' me own, he had his loife insured for the benefit o' his widdy, an' after all he niver had one, for 'twas him lived to be eighty, an' her that died."

"Wid banks it's just the other way," he continued. "For there was me own uncle, he put money in the bank and he kept sticking it in and sticking it in in the hopes that widd old age come he cud take it out gradual like and enjy himself, and insid o' that 'twas him that had the widdy before he touched sixty-two! They're wurked on the wrong plan, the both o' thim institutions, man, and it's a wonder to me to hear you sp'akin' a good wurrd for 'em."

Hands Were Shaking Already.
An American actor once attended a duel in Paris for the sole purpose of studying the demeanor of the duelists. He was preparing at the time to act a duelist's role in a new play.

Discussing this combat afterward, he said:

"I confess that I learned very little from it. The men were too well scared to teach me anything that would have been of service in a serious stage duel. They reminded me, in fact, of a story that Edwin Booth used to tell."

"This story concerns two principals who, after they had exchanged shots harmlessly, were urged by their seconds to shake hands. They were about to do so when a bystander, who had looked on at their duel despite their requests that he depart, exclaimed in a disgusted tone:

"It's hardly necessary for them to shake hands. Their hands have been shaking this half hour."

Through the Skin TO THE BLOOD.

Some of the most stubborn diseases enter into the system through the pores of the skin. The juices of Poison Oak and Ivy and other noxious wild plants, when taken into the circulation, break out afresh each season, and linger on for years unless antidoted and driven out of the system.

Dye Poisoning from wearing colored under-clothing and hosiery is of frequent occurrence.

Workers in Lead, Brass, and other metals are often poisoned by the chemicals and acids used in polishing, and the dust and filings settling upon the skin. The diseases that enter the system by absorption or through the pores are as deep-seated and dangerous as any, and cannot be reached by washes, salves, soaps or other external remedies. The blood must be purified before getting permanently rid of the disease. S. S. S. acts upon the blood, ridding it of the original poison and restoring it to a healthy, normal condition.

S. S. S. is guaranteed entirely vegetable, and an unrivaled blood purifier. With all impurities removed from the blood, the sores and eruptions disappear from the skin. Write us should you desire medical advice or any information about your case; this will cost you nothing.

Use Shoffner's Sure Cure

The Great Tonic and Blood Purifier—Cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Catarrh.

It is a trite and true saying that the "blood is the life." Now where does the blood come from? Everybody knows, or should know, that it comes from the nutritive elements extracted by the stomach from the food we eat. If the digestive organs do not perform their functions by reason of disease germs, there is no nutrition extracted, and the food might better be thrown in the dump to decay and breed germs in the open air than to remain in the stomach and become a rotten, putrid mass, as it naturally does if there is no digestion. No disease germ can live and find lodgment in a human body that uses the Shoffner's Sure Cure. Price $1.00.

IN JAIL NOW

Couple Captured Near Union City for Horse Stealing.

Alleged to Have Secured Many in This Section—Two Near Paducah.

Union City, Tenn., Aug. 19.—Several weeks ago a horse and buggy were stolen from a man named Clark, near Paducah, Ky. A man who gives the name of John Lannon, alias J. W. Stewart, and a woman named Ella Jenkins, are accused of the theft, and the proof seems positive, as they came to Mr. Dick Corum's, several miles north-east of here, driving Clark's horse to his buggy. They lounged around Corum's woods all the afternoon, and spent the night in his hay stack. The next morning, as the animal was poor, they concluded to leave her and drive Corum's fine mare, which they did. From Corum's they went to the camp-meeting at Curtner Springs, and there Lannon traded off the mare for a mule. They were apprehended at Dyersburg a few days later, but as it could not then be proven that they had stolen Corum's mare they were given their liberty.

Chief of Police McNutt of Mayfield, had all this time been on the track of them, and with information he gave to Deputy Sheriff King of Dyer county the culprits were overhauled by King at or near Ripley. Sheriff Chiles went down and came back with the prisoners, and they are here in jail.

The prisoners pleaded guilty before Squire H. S. Sacra and went to jail in default on a bond of $500 each. The man, originally came from near Mayfield, Ky., while the woman's former home was Curver. They claim to be married. The woman is fairly good-looking, and neither of them appear to be 20 years of age.

They are alleged to have also stolen a horse and buggy five miles below Paducah, property of George Rief.

a prominent farmer of that section. The man and woman will probably be taken to Paducah Monday for trial.

THE FAIR

Large Crowds Out at Yesterday's Races.

Last Night's Attendance Was Marred By Inclement Weather—Today's Races.

Paducah Day at the Fair yesterday was a thorough success, both in patronage and in the races and feature entertainments.

The crowds packed the cars from early in the afternoon until 4 o'clock and the Fair grounds were filled. The grand stand was fuller than any day since the Fair started and the management is greatly gratified over the patronage and the compliments paid the association on conducting such a successful Fair.

Last night the patronage of the electric light shows was light on account of the threatening weather, but the full show was nevertheless given.

Today some excellent races are programmed and another large crowd is going out. The Fair lasts through today and tomorrow, closing Saturday night.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.

Half-mile dash—Brackford, first; Jeff, second; Tall Tale, third. Time 51 1/2.

Half-mile dash—consolation for horses that had not won in previous races during meeting—Diana Fonso, first; Solitaire, second; Glenrose, third; Ed Carter, fourth. Time 50 1/2.

GIVEN TIME

McCracken County Must Get Busy to Prevent Quarantine.

Federal Inspector Was Here For Several Days This Week.

Dr. Richardson, of New Orleans, sent here by the government to investigate the condition relative to "ticky" cattle shipped into Paducah, has left and gone to Louisville. He stated before he left that he had no desire to quarantine McCracken county, and would give the authorities two or three to weeks in which to take steps to have the cattle shipped here from the south isolated, in order to prevent Texas fever in other cattle. The county does not require this done now, and so far as knows, has as yet, taken no steps to have it done.

Dr. Warner, the local meat and milk inspector, stated that the county would simply have to require the law complied with, or stand a quarantine. The federal officer spent several days in Paducah, and seemed to be very fair and lenient, assuring the county authorities that nothing would be done if the county would require the cattle kept separate.

WHEAT IS MOVING.

THE ILLINOIS CENTRAL IS TAKING MUCH OF IT SOUTH.

The Illinois Central is moving immense quantities of wheat from the Northwest to New Orleans for export. The tendency now is to move export grain to the Gulf ports instead of to the New York seaboard, and the Illinois Central has made extensive preparations to handle this business, which has been growing steadily for years.
